If upon receipt of Goods the Customer discovers that part of products doesn't meet quality requirements, the Customer has to make up the goods acceptance report and state the reasons for the claim within 3 (three) business days.
Also the Customer should provide to the Seller at least 7 (seven) photos, which prove that the quality of Goods doesn't meet (satisfy) the requirements.
If these photos do not provide clear and legible proof of quality discrepancy, the Seller is not responsible for acceptance of the claim.
